Ramblings In Japan

by T. Geo. Wood.

We have now visited the heartland of Japan. A succession of scenery almost unsurpassed.

The journey from Tokyo to Kyoto, from East Capital to Old Capital, by express train, takes over 8 hours, with few stops, at an average of 40 miles per hour. Smooth travel behind diesel engines.

We made the down trip by daylight, using 3rd Class reserve car. The difference in cost between 3rd and 2nd Class is amazing. Third Class seats cost 1400 yen — 2nd Class over 3400 yen, or more than double per passenger.

In 3rd Class, your seats face opposite, like our Canadian day trains. In 2nd, you have reclining chairs, all facing ahead, and softer cushions. We returned 2nd class, as our return trip was partly after dark at night, and very comfortable.

But for human interest, give me 3rd class. We were across from two ladies — Mother and daughter, returning to their home in Kobe. They had little English, so by gesture and smiles, we very soon were acquainted. Our Robbie was a good show to them. They offered him candy and gum, and soon the mother made him a set of folded paper toys — men, boats, hats, birds, etc. How these people can do finger work with expert sureness and cleverly.

We met a lawyer from Nagoya, who also had some English, learned 30 years before, and somewhat rusty, but very friendly.

Ahead of us, it was not quite so pleasant, the four front seats of men went from sake (rice wine) to whiskey and singing, before their destination was reached. No one intervened and they kept their celebrations to themselves. Time passed fast. With each station stop there were peddlers of hot tea, fruit cakes, and fish and fruit. We bought some Japanese oranges which were ice cold and refreshing.

The train operated a good dinner car, not perhaps quite up to Western standards, but food is well cooked and served.

The washrooms, however, put all our train conveniences to shame, finished in pastel colors of tile, and with vases of fresh flowers, they were quite impressive.

Now the countryside, blooming in late spring and early summer was a picture to behold. Every inch farmed, the flatter valleys as far as the eye could reach, carpeted in small squares and oblongs of vegetables, grain nearly ripe, rice paddies being planted, tea bushes in dark green rows, and hand workers everywhere.

We even saw a few horses pulling plows, and many more oxen. It appears that oxen can drag more easily through the sticky soil than horses. Tractors would be useless. Men and women work up to their hips in mud, especially as they transplant the rice into the paddies, with inches of water flooding above the soil.

As we returned, grain harvest was in full swing. It is cut by sickles, tied in small bundles, about eight inches in diameter, and laid bundle by bundle to dry. Much threshing was going on. A small machine looking like a seed separator, is used for the threshing. The heads are cut off by hand, leaving the straw bundles intact, to make thatch, mats, or mattresses, etc.

Then the heads only are fed into the separator. Infinite labor is required for all this farm work.

We were met by special army bus for Bawako Hotel, on the shores of Lake Biwa, near the town of Otsu, 15 miles from the city.

Otsu is the Headquarters of U.S. South West Command, which controls all the Kyoto - Nagoya - Osaka area. Here are the three largest cities of Japan, following Tokyo, together they have over 4 million people.

Lake Biwa is the largest fresh water lake of Japan, a little larger than Lake Geneva in Switzerland. It is reminiscent of that beauty spot. It has a shoreline 146 miles long and the views of the distant mountains across the lake were superb, sunrise

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Jensen were host to the Sunday Night Study Class last week. Bryant gave the lesson and Mrs. Jensen served a very nice lunch.

The homes of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley King and Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Ralph are getting a face lifting.

Mrs. John Hyde has received word that her brother, Roger Bishop whose home is in England, is now working in Toronto. He is fitting British instruments in Canadian aircraft there. He expects to spend from three to six months on this project.

Picture Service

We are now in a position to use local pictures in the paper, so if you have a photograph or snapshot you think others would enjoy, please bring it to the Recorder office. The size of the picture is not important, but it must be clear and sharp in detail. There will be no charge.

Saturday, June 18, the Fourth Ward YWMA will hold a Special Cake Day at Stone's Store. In the past, many people have been disappointed because they couldn't get the kind of cake they wanted, but such will not be the case at this sale. Orders may be placed in advance, by phoning Beth Galbraith or Ada Stone, for any kind or size of cake desired on that day. Other baked goods will also be available. The sale starts at 9:30 a. m., and all proceeds will go to the Girls Home in Waterton.

Air Cadet Activities

The annual inspection of No. 565 Raymond Air Cadet Squadron was held Monday evening at the Junior High School. G/C J. P. McCarthy took the salute from the receiving stand while the cadets marched past.

Following the march past, the Squadron, under the command of F/O Bill Mehew, formed up for inspection by the official party which included G/C McCarthy, CO of RCAF Station, Claresholm; S/L McAlpine, CGI, RCAF Station, Claresholm; F/O Pearson, ACLO; Mr. Harper, a member of the Alberta Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada; and Mr. M. Takeda, chairman of the local civilian committee. Also present was an RCAF photographer.

Both G/C McCarthy and Mr. Harper commended the Squadron on its appearance and precision in the ceremonial march past.

All the officials present were very enthusiastic about the showing of the local squadron, but were disappointed in the conspicuous absence of the parents of the cadets. The hope was expressed that by next year, more parents would be interested in the activities of the cadets and an invitation is extended to all parents to come and attend any and all parades and see what the boys are doing. Parade night is Monday night, every week.

Buddhist Church Scene Of Pretty Wedding

NAKAHAMA — UEDA

The Buddhist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding May 28th, when marriage vows were exchanged between Toshiko Ueda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ueda of Kelowna, B. C., and Nodulchi Nakahama, son of the late K. (Geo.) Nakahama and Mrs. M. Nakahama of Raymond.

The bride was lovely in a cocktail-length gown of chantilly lace and net over white taffeta. Fashioned with a full bouffant skirt and fitted bodice. Her finger tip veil cascaded from a lace trimmed cap and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Sumi Ueda, as Maid of Honor, and Miss Midori Ebaragi as bridesmaid. They were attired in identical gowns of pale blue cocktail length net over taffeta and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Both attendants are from Kelowna, B.C.

Kiyashi Mori was best man and Roy Kitagawa was usher.

Rev. Nekoda officiated.

A reception followed for 130 guests at the Lotus Inn in Lethbridge. For her honeymoon trip to points south of the border, the bride changed to a light green suit with white and red accessories complemented by an orchid corsage.

The young couple will make their home in Vauxhall where the groom is employed by P.F.R.A.

To Celebrate Golden Jubilee With Special Edition

This year, 1955, marks the Golden Anniversary of the formation of the Province of Alberta.

To help to commemorate this once-in-a-lifetime event, the Recorder will go to press with a special "Golden Jubilee Edition," on July 7th.

We have already started to assemble material for this edition, but, of course, we would like to keep the interest as close to home as possible.

No doubt many of you have pictures of the town and townspeople taken during the early days of Raymond. These pictures are of special interest when pioneers and the things they have accomplished are being honored all over the province. So, if you have a picture or pictures that you think may be interesting to the people of the district, please bring, or send, them to the Recorder. We will take very good care of them, and return them to you as soon as possible.

Stories and poems of the early days of the province, short histories of the first settlers in the district, all these are now in great demand by the Recorder. We would appreciate hearing from anyone who has a story to tell or a poem to read so that we can make the "Golden Jubilee Edition" a paper of real interest.

Please look around, for old photos, stories, and poems. And soon, please. It takes quite a bit of time to prepare a large edition of the paper, and we are anxious to get started.

A Fish Derby will be sponsored by the Raymond Fish and Game Association at Miami Lake Sunday, June 12, from 7 a.m., to 7 p.m. The weigh station will be located on the grassy slope on the north east shore of the lake. In case of rain, the Derby will be postponed, but wind won't stop it. First prize will be an all wool blanket, with an electric clock, 2nd, and a thermos jug 3rd. The prizes are on display in the Raymond Cleaners.

Main Street Blues

The Main Street of Raymond looks as though a couple of bulldozers had been working on it — and for a very good reason — they have. Robert Heggie and Sons and all their trucks, tractors and loaders are working early and late these days to get the streets ready for the paving crews.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Anderson and Dr. and Mrs. Harlan Taylor and Miss Barbara Fairbanks left Wednesday morning for Salt Lake City where they will attend conference. Miss Fairbanks has been visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fairbanks, for the past ten days.

Mrs. Meba Woolf and son, of Lethbridge are visiting at the home of Mrs. Bonnie Willison for a few days.

Mmes. Mae Finch, Olive Watson, Maureen Williams and Edith Smith motored to Lethbridge Tuesday evening to help Mrs. Hazel Holland celebrate her birthday at the home of Mrs. Audrey Christensen.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Turner visited in Warner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Holladay.

Touring The Town With Amy

— Amy Campbell

Hi shoppers! Let's make this week even better than last.

An asset to your kitchen economy is the Lustru Ware Holder in the Merc. From the top of this plastic holder you pull your waxed paper and from the bottom you take your paper towels. It costs only $3.00 and is attractive in red and white colors.

White Mexican Sandals are for sale in the Broadway. They cost just $1.59

You'll be in clover ten times over with a new automatic clothes dryer. Gordon Motors have a new dryer that will be a miracle compared to the endless drudgery of hauling and hanging 52 washes a year which you usually do. It will save you time, work, worry, clothes, space, health, ironing and is so dependable that you'll love washdays.

Junior would like a pair of the Kiddies Dungarees in the Merc. Leather chaps, decorated with two yellow tassels are sewn right on the jeans. Price is $2.95 a pair.

Girls, the softly colored orlon sweaters you see in the Broadway are not only attractive but durable also. The pink Grandmere cardigan on display is shrinkproof and moth proof — selling for $6.95.

Stones Service Store has the Gutta Percha garden hose you need for lasting service. Along with it they have handy yellow topped wheel barrows — implements you'll need for good gardening.

Everybody wants to enjoy a warmer home without spending a mint of money. The way to do it is to buy a new Empire Cool Cabinet Circulator Heater. This heater is the solution to your problems of dismal drafty rooms and is attractive in the brightest living room. Gordon Motors has it in now.

Use a Gro-gun as an insecticide sprayer, a fertilizer sprayer, a weed killer or plant food sprayer. Just attach this Bradson Gro-gun to your hose, fill the jar with spray material and you're off, with the gun doing all the work through water pressure. Drop into the Merc and see it now.

Be with you next week shoppers, take advantage of the bargains you have at hand.

Miss Barbara Wing, a Brigham Young University junior from Raymond, Alberta, Canada, will be the Commandant of the Sponsor Corps at BYU for the 1955-56 school year, it was announced recently.

A major in elementary education at the University, Miss Wing is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Wing of Raymond.

The new commandant has been an active member of the Sponsor Corps at BYU for three years and acted as corps adjutant during the current school year.

Miss Wing is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic organization; O. S. Trovata; and is active in Campus Branch.

Barbara is now at home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hancock spent Wednesday visiting in Cardston with Mr. Hancock's nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Burgess of Simms, Montana, who were married that day in the Alberta Temple.

How Many Ox-Power?

Modern times might be upon us, but it's sure a good thing to have some old fashioned things around us once in a while, according to Clarence Allred. Clarence told us of this experience some time ago, but this is the first chance we've had to pass it on to you.

Back a few weeks ago, when we were still being rained and snowed on, Clarence was driving his car on his farm when he became very deeply mired in the mud. All the horses under the hood could not budge him, so he hooked up one of his famous oxen, and out came the car.

Just goes to show — some things never go out of date!

Barry Wolsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolsey of Welling, celebrated his ninth birthday Saturday with the help of eleven of his friends. They all drove to Magrath to the show, then returned to his home where his mother served refreshments.

Any Old Tickets?

Those traffic tickets that caused so much discussion in Lethbridge a few months ago have now reached Raymond. About a month ago, Geo. McGillveray and Cesty Sudo both received 50¢ tickets and George Thomson one for $2. Needless to say, none of these men had even been close to Edmonton at the time.

One theory advanced is that someone in the Capital City is making up his own supply of plates and selling them at reduced prices. Another is that someone in the Accounting Department is out to feather his own nest — either one is a risky business, but for $30,000, a fella might just take the chance.

It's the Calories That Count

Peck's bad boy couldn't have taken more punishment than has the abused calorie, yet no one could live without it. Whether you are tall or short, big or little, you need energy to work and enjoy life. That energy can come only from calories supplied by the food you eat. But, play it safe, and choose your daily diet from foods which balance nutritionwise, as well as caloriewise. Select economical foods like enriched white or whole grain bread and cereals to supplement other more expensive sources of proteins, minerals and vitamins.

Actually food is fuel for your body. The amount of energy supplied by that fuel — whether it's milk or bread or meat — is measured in terms of calories. Your body is like your car. To determine how much fuel or how many calories it needs to keep it "on the go" you must consider your age, your size and how hard you work physically. Too many calories, like too much fuel in your car, will go to waste — usually on your waist! Fats give about twice as many calories as do sugars and starches (carbohydrates) or proteins. Thus foods which are high in fat have a high calorie count. Some foods, some fruits and vegetables especially because they contain large amounts of cellulose and water, are very low in calories. Most of our common, basic foods, like bread, cereals, meat, eggs, milk and cheese, have what nutritionists call "in-between" calorie values.

Although energy, and calories, are essential for work and play, they are sometimes over-emphasized. In fact, the calorie can be an indirect enemy to healthful eating if it is allowed to play the major role in the daily eating game. Many folks forget that healthful living can only come from eating a nutritionally balanced diet. Thus foods must be chosen for the proteins, minerals and vitamins they contain, as well as the calorie-producing fats and carbohydrates.

There are other hazards in the eating game too. So much is said about the danger of extra calories and overweight, that the food needs of the underweight adult or the energetic youngster are often overlooked. Extreme thinness, though currently fashionable, is not a healthy state. While it is easy enough to see the results of too many calories, a lack of calories should be a warning that essential nutrients may be lacking too. Under-eating often leads to nervousness, irritability, listlessness and lowered resistance.

If the calories that count in the weight-guessing game — but if you count calories without eating sensibly you'll lose your key to healthful, happy living.

The Friendship club met at the home of Mrs. Ruth Nalder Wednesday evening. Sewing and chatting was enjoyed, as was the tasty lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hill left for Oshawa Monday.

The proofreader on a tall middle western daily was a woman of great precision and extreme propriety. One day a reporter succeeded in getting into type an item about "Willie Brown, the boy who was burned in the West End by a live wire."

On the following day the reporter found on his desk a frigid note, asking, "Which is the west end of a boy?"

It took only an instant to reply, "The end the son sets on, of course."

FIGHT CANCER

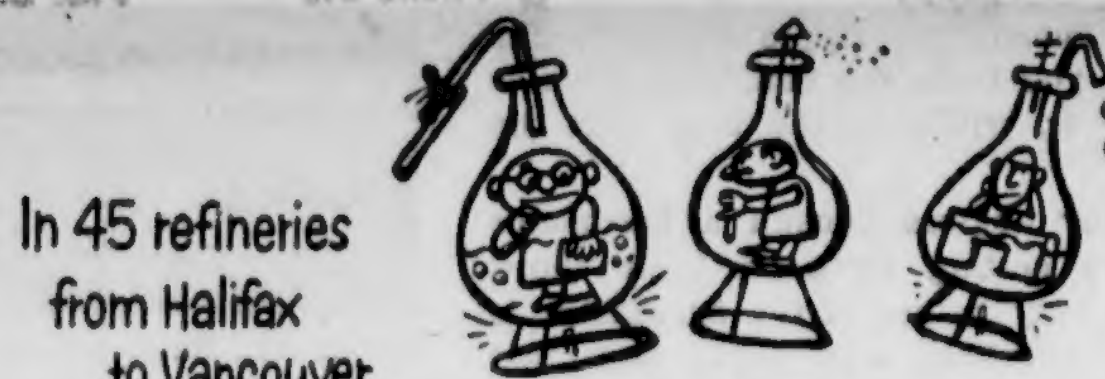

COMPETITION IS TOUGH!

Competition is tough in the oil business, too. While we believe Imperial is the best oil company in Canada, it's far from the only one. We're beset on all sides by healthy competitors.

From the Maritimes to British Columbia more than 240 companies are competing in the search for crude oil.

In 45 refineries from Halifax to Vancouver, 24 companies refine this crude oil into hundreds of useful oil products.

In all of Canada, scores of marketing companies compete for the motorist's and home owner's dollar.

In all its operations from coast to coast, Imperial Oil faces competition which is vigorous and resourceful, benefiting both the industry and the consumer.

The rhubarb is coming right along in your garden. Why not try it in cakes, sauces, punch, marmalade or relishes? Here is a recipe of Rhubarb Punch that you might find refreshing:

2 lb Rhubarb
3 cups water

Wash rhubarb and cut up in uniform pieces, do not peel. Cook in water until tender. Strain and chill. To each quart of juice add juice of three oranges, of one lemon and one cup of sugar. Before serving add crushed ice and one bottle of gingerale.

For more rhubarb recipes write to me for free folder.

Here are some short cuts for home management:

Roll out cookies on cookie sheet, cut, pick up trimmings, and tins are ready for the oven.

Roll out biscuits or pastry on floured canvas or brown paper. Canvas can be rolled around rolling pin and used again and there is no board to wash.

Grandmother used to scour her copper pots with salt and vinegar. Try it on your copper bottomed pans for it works like magic.

Quick catches: Lay four strips of waxed paper around cake plate. Frost cake right on the plate, then slide out the paper. Your cake-plate's party-neat.

Your hat veil's party neat too, when you press the veil between two sheets of waxed paper. The warm iron melts a little of the wax, giving veiling just the crisp, fresh look you want.

When next you spill grease, quickly rub an ice cube over the spill. This cold application hardens the grease, so preventing it from soaking into the surface.

Much time and labor can be saved by scalding dishes and letting them stand in a rack to dry rather than wiping them.

Vinegar added to the rinse water helps to brighten the glass ware. A dash of vinegar added to the soapy dish water removes fish and onion odors from cutlery and dishes.

In warm weather, bread will keep fresh and free from mold if wrapped in a vapor-proof plastic bag.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Twenty million anglers can't be wrong about the fun of fishing. But they sure can make mistakes about the best time to fish.

Here are some portents for a lucky day's catch that you can look for when planning to drive off to your favorite piscatorial retreat.

Fish bite best when they can see best. This means they feed more when the waters are clear, not muddy. The moon seems to affect the fish's appetite too. In fact, there's a saying, "Fish bite best when the moon is bright, and this is true both day and night," that many fishermen swear by.

A good off-shore breeze is another lucky omen. The ripple on the water hides you from the fish. Rough water however, will hide the bait from the fish.

Many anglers consult a barometer before setting forth on their sport. They stay in bed if the barometer is low, but jump out early and fast when it is high or rising.

Incidentally, the warmer the water, the deeper should be your plugs, spoons or spinners, as the fish seek out the cooler level.

Actually, the enjoyment for most people is not in catching fish — but just in "goin' fishin'."

A fuzzy picture of John grinning foolishly from ear to ear while holding the prize fish he caught is better than no picture at all — but with just a little effort you can come back with vacation pictures which will thrill you for years to come.

Try these ideas for better shots:

(1) Blurred pictures usually are caused by camera movement, so whenever possible rest the camera on a rock, a tree stump, or the car fender. Your shots are 50 per cent better already.

(2) Pose your people first, then ask them to look one-quarter to the right or left. No self-conscious, glassy-eyed stares that way.

(3) Snap Sis as walks away or toward that monument. You'll find that even such simple "action" is far better than a stiffly posed shot.

(4) No need to duplicate the professional scenes you get on postcards so save your film for extra shots of the car packing, roadside picnics, wading on the beach, fishing, hiking, etc.

As you shoot, mail the exposed rolls home so the prints will be ready on your return — and you can begin to relive the trip as soon as it's over.

Mrs. Fanny Litchfield returned this week from a very enjoyable two weeks holiday in Montana, where she visited the people and places her son Doug knew while on his mission. Among the places she visited were Wolf Point, Glasgow, Nashua, Lewiston (the geographical centre of Montana), and the Fort Peck dam. While in Montana, she attended an all-night wake service for an Indian, and also, a real movie-type Indian dance. She reports a most enjoyable time.

She was accompanied home by Mrs. Norcutt, her daughter Ida Hammond, and her daughter Connie Hammond, and Mrs. Agnes Nyseth, all of Wolf Point, who stayed for three days. Doug came home from Banff to visit with them.

Mrs. Earl Hartley was hostess at a Ronald Ware party Monday. Mrs. Irene Bowden was demonstrator.

and sunset colors most attractive. They list eight views as most beautiful, some samples: Evening Snow on Mt. Hira; Autumn Moon at Ishiyama; Wild Geese at Katata; etc. Our enjoyment of this serene country was deep and lasting. We took bus trips daily for sight seeing.

The Kyoto area was the capital of Japan for about 1,000 years from the year 794. The Emperor lived there until 1860, when the Imperial Court moved to Tokyo. Still the coronation or enthronement ceremony takes place at the Imperial Palace buildings in Kyoto, so it still the classical capital of Japan.

Naturally, with such a history, the most famous of Japanese Temples and Shrines, the headquarters of many religious bodies, are located in Kyoto.

Almost all the outstanding gardens are here. We shall tell of our visits to some of them.

The Temple Garden of the Nishi Honganji was one of great interest to us. Our Japanese friends and their church in Raymond belong to this Buddhist Church, which claims a total membership of over 8 million with twelve thousand temples. Their founder was St. Shiman in 1224, some 700 years ago.

One of their most sacred buildings was Goeldo. Here is the image of St. Shiman, carved by his own hand, for his daughter. After his death, his cremated ashes were mixed with lacquer, and so the carved statue, lacquered, has become the sacred relic in the temple. The building is only one of many, but large, 200 ft by 150 ft, and the chancel, like all Buddhist Temples, is richly adorned, with statues, screens, altars and flowers.

But about gardens. We presented our credentials from Raymond, and were guided by Rev. Shojune Togashi into the garden. This was moved from Fushimi Castle and rebuilt, about 350 years ago. It is one of the few Dry Gardens of Japan, so called from the fact that the water is simulated with sand, waterfalls with rocks. The total effect, of hillside trees, rocks and shrubs, was most convincing. There was a Tea Garden Tekisui, also containing a building, Huinkaku, built about 1500 and decorated with paintings on the paper slide walls. This was a 3-storey building of fame.

Nijo Castle was the Shogun stronghold in Kyoto during the centuries when the Emperor was only a puppet. It was built complete with walls, moats, guard towers and gardens in the 1600's.

The Old Art in the castle rooms is most gorgeous — paintings on walls and ceilings in gold and striking colors, with carved transoms, showing flowers, peafowl, etc., all in solid wood. Polished plank floors, called Nightingale, because every foot step can be heard, and it was so planned to prevent silent attacks on the war lords.

The Ni-no-Marui Garden there was also typical of the period. There was a central pond containing two isles. The larger, that of the Crane, and the smaller, that of the turtle, and believe me, there were turtles sunning there.

The imposing rocks, bordering the pond, backed by age-old trees, all give the idea of strength, matching well with the warriors and their feudal strongholds.

The Heian Shrine and Garden are Shinto type with red Torii and well-painted buildings, quite modern, built only 60 years ago.

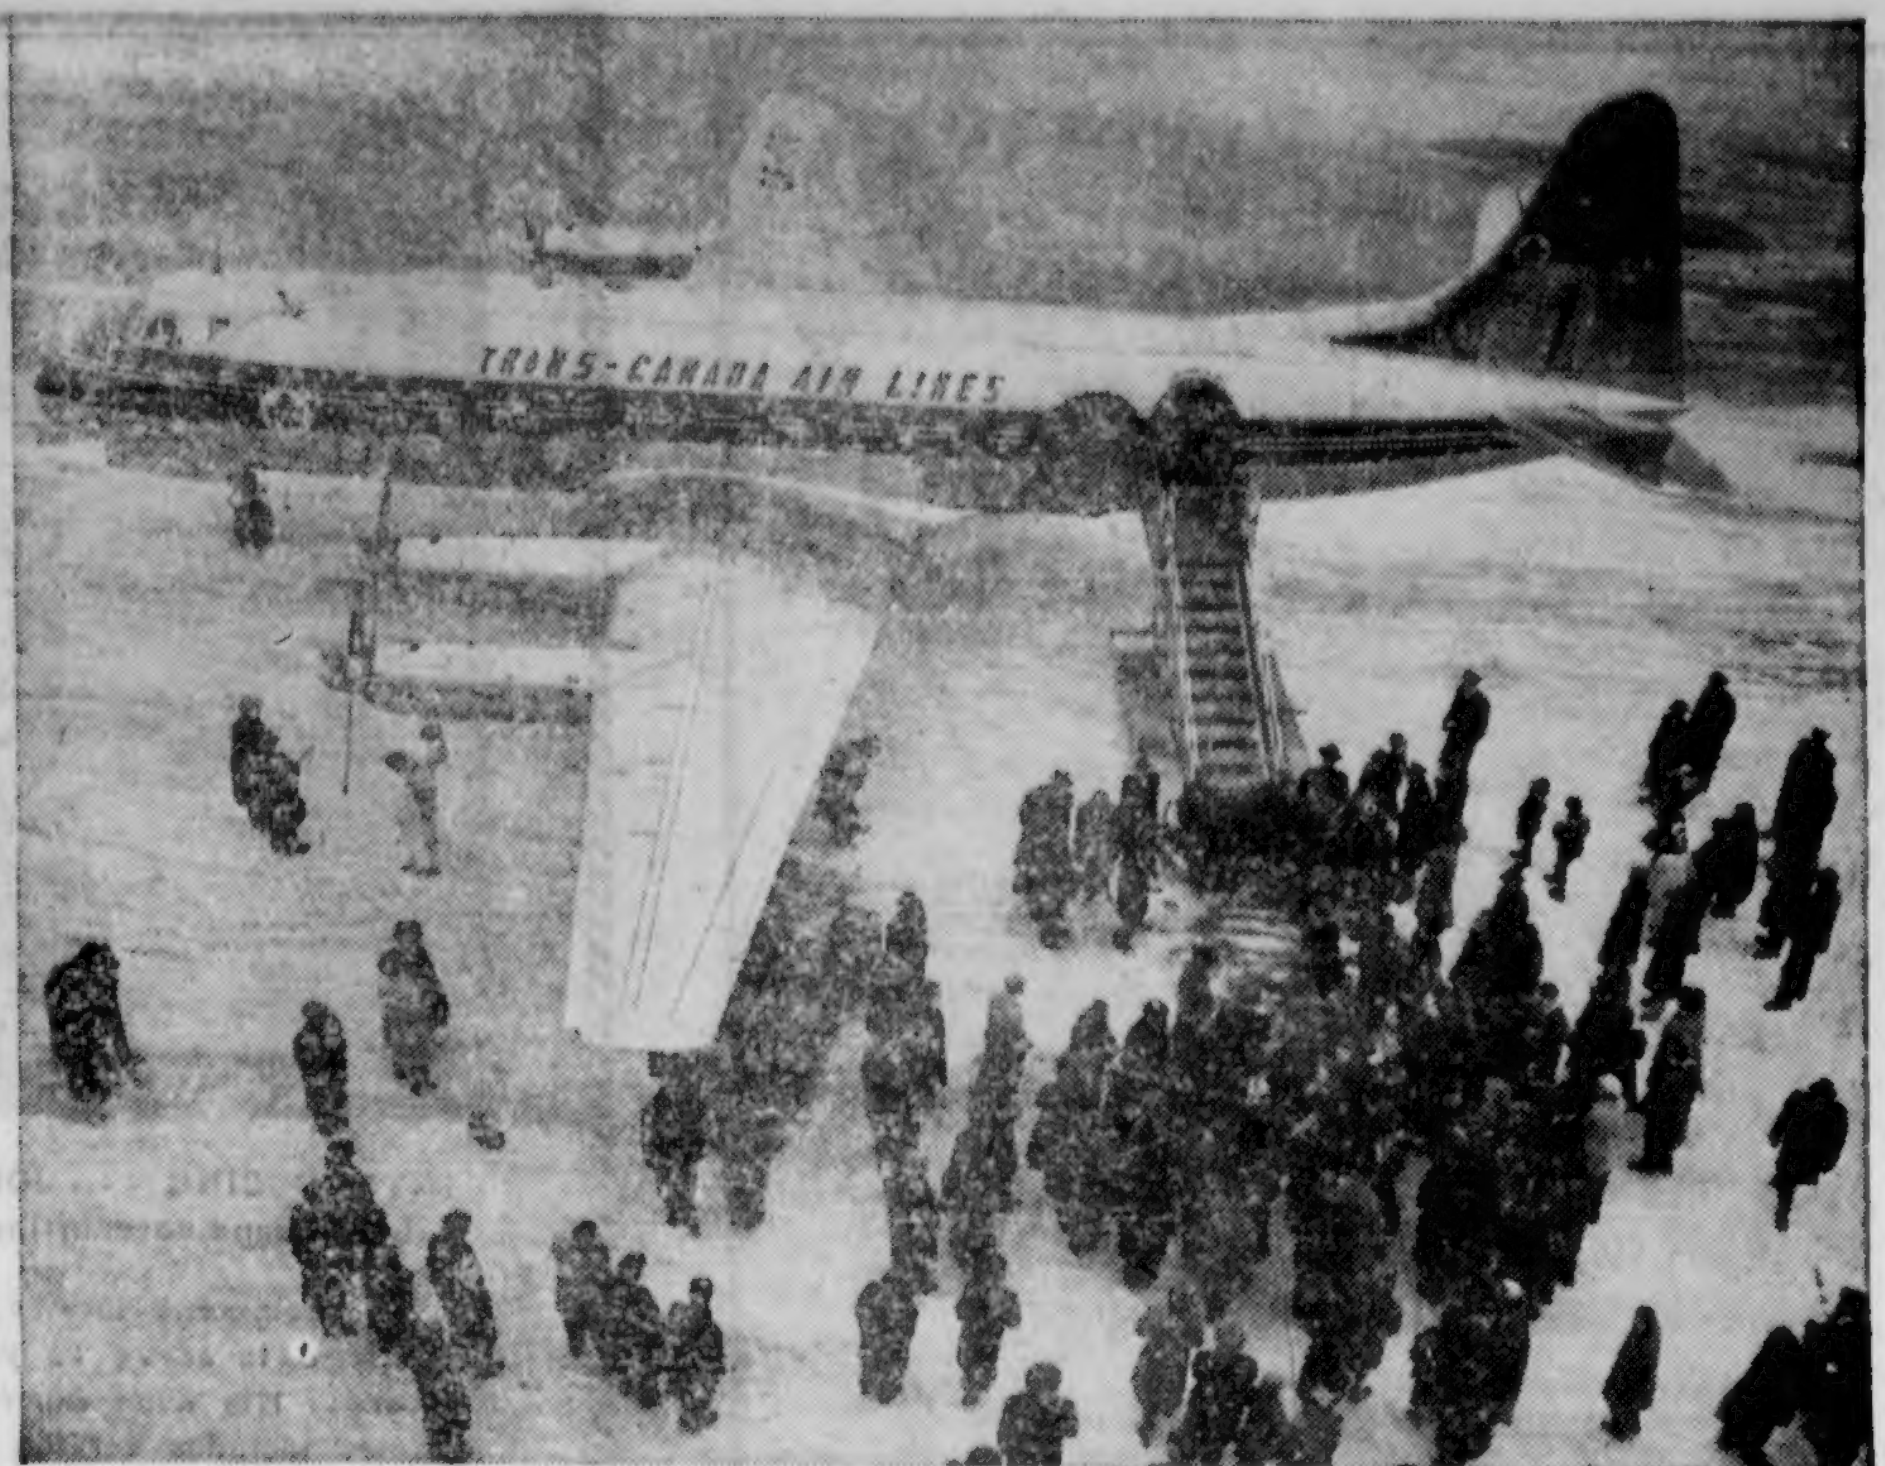

Its garden is stroll type, with iris and cherry blossoms around a series of ponds and bridges, many gold and bright carp to feed, and well patronized by visitors.

We visited the Imperial Palace in Kyoto. The Ceremonial Hall contains the Throne, a smaller room covered with rich silk draperies. Here also is a fine landscape garden. Probably the best garden of all was at Katsura west of Kyoto, about twenty minutes by electric train. Here is located Katsura Ryko, built in 1590 in quiet beautiful surroundings by Kobou Enshu, the most noted Japanese gardeners.

It is so beautifully planned, that wherever you stand, there is a front view of water, islands and trees. The story told is that this artist made three conditions before he would build it: (1) No limit on expenditure, (2) The work never to be hurried, (3) The owner must not look at the garden before completed. So Hede-yashi, the ruler, agreed, and the master gardener produced his master piece, which contains seven tea houses in all, in about 25 years.

We shall have to reserve the story of Kyoto industries and a visit to Nara for next week's matinee.

Lee Breyerton please take notice. Greetings to all our friends, from The Woods, in Kyoto.

Powerful Food Acids
Start Decay

Every tooth in the head first started from four or five tiny buds — quite separate from one another.

Gradually they grow together, so that they become joined in one mass as a fully formed tooth crown, before breaking through the gums.

If we look closely at the surface of a back tooth, we see that it is not flat. It has four or five high rounded points called cusps. In between the cusps are the crevices or valleys, which mark the places where the buds joined together to form the tooth crown.

You are one of the few fortunate ones if the buds that formed your teeth grew together perfectly. Most of us weren't that lucky.

When the buds do not join perfectly, the crevices between the cusps have tiny cracks, so small at first that they couldn't be seen with a powerful magnifying glass, but large enough to let in the bacteria that cause dental decay.

The bottoms of these crevices and the hidden areas where teeth touch one another are the places where decay is likely to develop.

If these places are not kept clean, sticky, pasty deposits of sweet and starchy foods will collect there. These deposits will bring about the formation of acids that cause the enamel to dissolve. Tooth enamel will resist the hardest of metal instruments, but it gives way easily before these acids.

Once inside the enamel, the germs that make acids and cause decay work faster and easier in the soft center of the tooth, where the growing conditions are ideal for them. The enamel is neglected and decay undermines it so that, finally, the unsupported enamel breaks away.

Through the blending of new and improved oils and pigments, Marshall-Wells' chemists have achieved completeness of paint protection never before known! Five years of rigid home testing combined with speeded-up weathering tests in the laboratory proved the five big advantages of "Formula 5".

The most severe test for any paint is on new wood. Here "Formula 5" seals wood pores to provide its own best undercoat; and offers 100% blister-proof protection, bonding so tight that no moisture can make it blister. The same revolutionary qualities that make "Formula 5" blister-proof on new, unpainted wood also make it the most blister-resistant paint you can apply to previously painted wood. Furthermore, "Formula 5" will not stain from nails or other metal rust and will not discolor from sulfurous fumes even in smog-filled air.

On your new home or repair job use new Marshall-Wells "Formula 5". Once you see its sharper, cleaner white tones and rich colors—you'll never again use a conventional paint.

Meet Your Candidate

INTRODUCING... JOHN L. EVANS of Raymond, your Liberal Candidate in the Warner Constituency.

A prominent farmer and rancher, Mr. Evans is well qualified to serve as your representative in the Legislature. His wide experience in public and community affairs includes serving on the Raymond Town Council, Raymond Town Planning Commission, Rodeo Committee, Past President of the Lions Club and many other public and social activities.

"As a Liberal representative, I would strive to assure you taxpayers honesty in government. The Liberal Party platform calls for appointment of a Royal Commission to make a full investigation of all government financial business. This, to me, seems like a sound proposal. After all, it's the taxpayers' money, and they have a right to know how it is being spent.

Since most of us are directly or indirectly concerned with farming, I feel more support and assistance should be given to farmers. For instance, qualified young men and women would receive assistance in becoming established under our Liberal proposal.

We would provide interest-free loans for farm power development, and a program of soil reclamation and conservation as well as allowing farmers to use purple gas for farm trucks hauling produce to market. Our program also calls for better marketing techniques and a sound irrigation program, including proper drainage and practical production program.

I know how you all feel about the municipal taxes. They keep going up every year while the province has millions in surplus. I feel local taxes could be lowered if the province paid a larger share of direct cost of schools and their administration. Other provinces do, and, if elected, I would support such a move. Also, local governments should have more independence, rather than meeting every 'requirement' to get a loan or grant.

None of us likes to hear of MLA's or public officials profiting by reason of his position. I believe this can be stopped by subjecting all government expenditures to control and annual investigation. Also, give the taxpayers a chance to come before the Legislature if they have any beefs.

Another item that costs the taxpayer too much money is hospitalization. Our Liberal Party has a program to provide a high standard of hospitalization and would remove the unfair burden now paid by the ratepayers.

It is time, also, that we put a stop to the "watering down" of our education standards, and again emphasize the education of the individual.

A Liberal government would establish a non-political highway commission to build long-term roads and highways and administer our natural resources for the benefit of both present and future generations. Particularly, we favor payment to landowner for surface rights, forest conservation and assistance to the coal industry.

I can assure you, voters, that a Liberal government in Edmonton would support the true principles of democracy and the traditions and customs of our democratic processes of government to guarantee justice, freedom and security."

Remember, on June 29, vote "1" for John L. Evans, your Liberal candidate.

The Living Test Tube
Accidents sometimes play a curious role in the history of science. The flock of mold that settled by chance on Sir Alexander Fleming's germ culture and opened the door to the discovery of penicillin is one of the best-known cases.

A little more than 100 years earlier another accident led to a revolution in the knowledge of digestion. In 1822, a young French-Canadian, Alexis St. Martin, was accidentally shot in the chest on Mackinac Island. A U. S. Army physician named William Beaumont was called to treat the wound in the stomach, torn open by close-range firing. Beaumont worked hard but failed to close the wound. Nevertheless, he was able to apply bandages in such a way that the stomach could still do its normal work.

A year later the boy needed a cathartic, and Beaumont gave it to him through the hole in the stomach. It worked as well as if it had been given by mouth! With great daring Beaumont then decided to launch a series of experiments that won him honors as one of medicine's greatest researchers.

Out of St. Martin's open wound he made a living test tube. He dangled small bits of food on string into the hole and hours later withdrew from the stomach what was left, carefully noting what he saw. In seven years Beaumont executed 238 experiments on an often rebellious subject. He proved man's digestive process was purely chemical and that emotional disturbances could affect digestion or even stop it. St. Martin lived long after Beaumont died, earning his living from medical schools.
